DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Winslow 2,038,697 in view of Moore 4,107,901 and Shuman, Jr. 3,330,102.

Winslow discloses a device comprising:

- A base (1) including
 - A motor (not shown, see column 1, lines 38-41) attached directly to the base (1)
 - Two unidirectional wheels (3) attached to the front of the base (1)
 - A multidirectional wheel (4) attached to the rear of the base (1)
 - A handle (10)
 - A universal joint (see Figure 4) comprising
 - two non-parallel axles (13, 15) connecting the handle (10) to the rear of the base (1) above the multi-directional wheel (4)
 - a handle couple (11) attached to the handle (10)
 - a link (12) rotatably attached to the handle couple (11)
 - a bracket (14) rotatably attached to the link (12) and attached to the base (1)

- A recess (see Figure 2).

While Winslow discloses that the connection may be used on a lawn mower, Winslow does not specifically disclose wherein the motor is attached to and rotates a line-cutting element. Winslow fails to disclose a lower grip attached to the handle.

Moore discloses a wheeled lawn mower wherein the electric motor (6) is attached to and rotates a line-cutting element (11).

Shuman, Jr. discloses a lawn trimmer (10), not meant to be carried but pushed and wheeled (15) over the ground, including a lower grip (19) attached to the handle (18) to facilitate control of the apparatus.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include the cutting line of Moore on the lawn mower of Winslow in order to provide a cutting device with simple and lightweight construction.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include the lower grip of Shuman, Jr. on the lawn mower of Winslow in order to facilitate the manual operation and control of the lawn mower.

With respect to the multidirectional wheel (4) of Winslow, it appears the wheel is multidirectional since a user would be forced to drag the wheel (4) across the lawn in order to get from the position shown in Figure 2 to that of Figure 3 if the structure were any otherwise.

Response to Arguments

The applicant argues that the prior art references previously used all teach a lower handle on a device which is intended to be fully supported by the operator. It can be seen in the rejection above that Shuman, Jr. discloses a lawn trimmer meant to be wheeled over and fully supported by the ground, as opposed to being carried or fully supported by the operator. Shuman, Jr. explicitly states in column 2, lines 63-65 that the trimmer includes a lower grip meant to facilitate manual operation and control of the trimmer. In this case, Shuman, Jr. discloses a device much like that of Winslow and it is therefore obvious to include Shuman, Jr.'s lower grip on the lawn mower of Winslow.
